

Ala. Code 1975, § 13A-2-5(c)

CAUSATION
(Strict Liability Only for Probable Consequences)

If the crime is one of strict liability, and causing a particular result is one of the material elements of the crime, causation is not established unless the result is a probable consequence of the person's conduct.

[Adopted 09-19-14.]